With the remarkable responses got for our previous conference, we are boosted to host our Fifteenth series of Oncology that is aimed at providing a stage for the members to exchange thoughts and views on medicine and cancer. This would a prestigious chance to draw in with the worldwide group of experts endeavouring to battle against tumours and to achieve remarkable success in the field of "Oncology".

Cancer includes a widespread prevalence worldwide, which stands as a primary issue for the demand for cancer drugs. The upswing in cancer research, increase in the senescent population worldwide and hike in the collaborations between the pharmaceutical firms stand as a key factors for the growth of the cancer drug market also on the other hand adverse effects of cancer drugs and high cost related with the cancer drug stand as a major factors which hinder the growth of the market. Hence the main target of the conference is to accelerate the medicine analysis field and to market international scientific relations.

London Oncology Conference aids the gathering of many leading researchers to share the recent advanced ideas by discussing innovative analysis and exchange ideas around the impact of market dynamics and new technologies for current and future advantages of the world.

Participants of U.K Oncology Conference will be engaged in high-level discussions that facilitate interactions among the research community and discuss the newest developments during this highly advancing field.

Besides having a dazzling conference, you shall also adore fantastic thing about this beautiful town Frankfurt because it stands as a home to several cultural and historical attractions, which includes Romerberg, The Museum District, St.Bartholomew's Cathedral, The Palm Garden, Senckenberg Natural History Museum and many more.
