Why Barcelona?

Barcelona, being the cosmopolitan capital city of Spain and consistently placed strongly in the index is largely due to its high concentration of internationally ranking universities, research institutes, start-ups and companies. The laboratories cover all scientific disciplines that mobilize over 12,000 scientists, researchers, eminent experts in wound care and PhD scholars. The presence of associations, societies, hospitals, laboratories, universities, companies, tourist's attractions and other professional services together make the Barcelona favourite destination for scientific meetings.

Let's meet and explore the beautiful city of Barcelona.
