I am delighted to introduce Allied academies journal Gynecology and Reproductive endocrinology (ISSN: 2591-7994) a peer reviewed scholarly journal that addresses various aspects of gynecology, obstetrics and reproductive endocrinology and am pleased to announce that all the issues in volume 3 were published within the stipulated time along with print issues brought out and dispatched within 30 days of publishing the issue online during the year 2019.

All published articles of this journal are included in the indexing and abstracting coverage of China National Knowledge Infrastructure (CNKI), CiteFactor and Secret Search Engine Labs.

The objective of AAGRE is to publish up-to-date, high-quality and original research papers alongside relevant and insightful reviews. As such, the journal aspires to be vibrant, engaging and accessible, and at the same time consolidative and challenging.

During the calendar year of 2019, AAGRE received a total of 20 manuscripts, out of which 10 articles were rejected in the preliminary screening due to plagiarism or being out of the format and peer review process. During 2019 around 10 articles were subjected for publication after they are accepted in the peer review process. A total of 10 articles were published (at an average of 3 articles per issue) from authors all around the world. Globally articles have been accessed by the research scientists and also cited.

our reputation and visibility in the academic community continues to broaden, and our editorial board constantly reassesses and revises the editorial process to ensure the most efficient and satisfying experience for both authors and staff. It is due to the support of our faculty advisors, the hard work of our editorial staff that we were able to bring out issues of AAGRE in time. I would also like to express my gratitude to all the authors, reviewers, the publisher, the advisory and the editorial board of AAGRE, the office bearers for their support in bringing out yet another volume of AAGRE and look forward to their unrelenting support to bring out the Volume 4 of AAGRE in scheduled time.
