Editorial Note for Research in Clinical Dermatology

Deepak Jakhar*
Department of Dermatology, Deen Dayal Upadhyay Hospital, New Delhi, India

Accepted April 20, 2020

Editorial Note

I am pleased to mention about the Research in Clinical Dermatology that during the year 2019, all Issues of volume 2 were published online well within the time and the print issues were also brought out and dispatched within 30 days of publishing the issue online.

Research in Clinical Dermatology (AARCD) is an open access journal designed for the wide dissemination of research in this field to worldwide audience and continually improves the treatment and understanding of skin disease. New developments in methodology and techniques are important resources for the research community. The Journal aims to act as a forum for publication, education and exchange of opinions to promote research and publications globally by facilitating the rapid publication and circulation of novel discoveries in the field of Skin Care.

The objective of AARCD is to publish high-quality original research papers, survey reports, case studies, narratives, review article, short communication, clinical data, thesis and relevant and insightful reviews. Every year we published with different volumes and different issues. Each issue of the journal covered with different types of topics in the field of Cutaneous biology, Contact dermatitis & allergy, Dermatological surgery & lasers, Dermatopathology, Paediatric dermatology, Cosmetic dermatology, Immunodermatology, Tele dermatology, Dermatoepidemiology, Stoma, Wound healing, Radiation, Acne, pruritus, photodynamic therapy, Nutricosmetics, Skin disorders, Allergic reaction etc. Theme of the journal is to publish original research, review articles, clinical cases, perspective, commentary and others which provide broad sense of information on management, critical care, treatment and surgery in the field of Dermatology.

AARCD specializes in digital advertising to help clients inform and attract new customers quickly and efficiently. The size and diversity of our advertising options, including banners, sponsored emails, article alerts or newsletters, provide clients with the very best customized marketing opportunities in science and medicine. If you are looking for a global exposure for your products and services, this is the right place for you. With over 5 million readers worldwide and nearly 3 million hits a month on our website, we have engaged audience of students, research scholars, scientists, doctors, professors, pharmacists and professionals from companies across the domains.

We believe your contribution will enhance the worth of the issue in 2020 in the field of Dermatology and other modern disciplines of Dermatology study. The submitted papers will be 21 day rapid review process with international peer-review standards.

The social media can play a key role in spreading the research work increased visibility, citation and ultimately the impact of published works. We promote published articles to the social media like Twitter and LinkedIn. This will benefit the researcher to increase reputation and attendant career progression.

On behalf of the AARCD Editorial Board and the whole Editorial Office, I would like to express our gratefulness to the authors of articles published during the past years, reviewers, and the publisher and to acknowledge generous help which both the authors and editors obtained from the peer-reviewers.

*Correspondence to Deepak Jakhar, M.D.
H.No- 82, V.P.O Goyla Khurd,
New Delhi - 110071, India.
Tel: +91 9654616205
E-mail: dr.deepakjakhar@yahoo.in

Res Clin Dermatol 2020 Volume 3 Issue 1