

Modern Oncology and next-generation therapeutics.

Biplab G*

Department of Physiology, University of Gour Banga, West Bengal, India

Accepted on November 11, 2020

Journal of Medical Oncology and Therapeutics is an open access journal with millions of site guests going to successfully release the fifth volume with three issues with interesting topics which were discussed and viewed continuously by different authors from different countries.

As we know that the oncology is the consider of cancer. An oncologist could be a specialist who treats cancer and gives restorative care for an individual analyzed with cancer. The field of oncology has three major regions: therapeutic, surgical, and radiation. Therapeutic oncologists treat cancer utilizing chemotherapy, hormonal treatments, natural treatments, and other focused on medications. Individuals regularly think of the therapeutic oncologist as their essential cancer specialist. Therapeutic oncologists help their patients oversee side impacts, and they help screen and keep up well-being. A surgical oncologist may be a specialist who specializes in performing biopsies and expelling cancerous tumors and encompassing tissue, as well as other cancer-related operations. A radiation oncologist specializes in treating cancer with radiation treatment to recoil or devastate cancer cells or to ease cancer-related side effects. A radiation oncologist employment ionizing radiation and other modalities to treat threatening and a few generous infections. Radiation oncologists moreover may utilize computed tomography (CT) looks, attractive reverberation imaging (MRI), ultrasound, and hyperthermia (warm) as extra intercessions to help in treatment arranging and conveyance. Radiation oncologists utilize an assortment of treatment strategies, counting radioactive implantations, outside bar radiotherapy, hyperthermia, and combined methodology treatment such as radiotherapy with surgery, chemotherapy, or immunotherapy.

A few individuals with cancer will have as it were one treatment. But most individuals have a combination of medications, such as surgery with chemotherapy and/or radiation treatment. You will moreover have immunotherapy, focused on treatment, or hormone treatment. Clinical trials might too be a choice for you. With expanding accentuation on accuracy approaches to therapeutics, item advancement has moved centre to a genome-guided approach to create novel therapeutics. This Commentary highlights the advancement of another era exactness solutions. We briefly summarize the current state of the science and what lies ahead in terms of openings and challenges for advancement of imaginative restorative modalities such as antisense oligonucleotides (ASOs) and clustered frequently interspaced brief palindromic repeats (CRISPR)/CRISPR related protein 9 (Cas 9)-based treatments.

Global users for Journal of Medical Oncology and Therapeutics representing the statistics through Google Analytics a data that browser, viewers, and users are constantly visiting the web page all over the world. Approximately 9000 visitors have accessed the journal pages for reading and deriving information for their use. Social media and digital marketing are also helpful in advertising for manuscript submission through Tweeter, LinkedIn, what's app and outlook mailing.

This editorial helped me in expressing my gratitude towards this journal so, I would like to thank regarded editors, creators, analysts, and other diary holders for their colossal bolster in future development for Journal of Therapeutic Oncology and Therapeutics.

Correspondence to:

Biplab G
Department of Physiology,
University of Gour Banga,
West Bengal
India,
E-mail: bgiri.emscl@gmail.com