Abstract

The two-day gathering of world-renowned experts of Entrepreneurship, reconstructive and meetings field is scheduled on July 30-31, 2020 in Rome, Italy. Entrepreneurship 2020 desires at integrating all the renowned business leads, marketing experts, entrepreneurs, young achievers, influencers. The objective of this conference is to gather like-minded coteries to facilitate the flow of ideas, thoughts, suggestions and motivations. Global Entrepreneurship Summit 2020 provides a platform for enthusiasts to debate the promotion of entrepreneurship with a worldwide perspective. The summit can function a meeting for discussion of opportunities and programs aimed towards an equivalent. The summit would see an active participation of leaders from entrepreneurship cells from various sectors across the world. The entrepreneurship cells of world are being brought to one place to learn from the support system present in world universities and learn how to implement the same to effectively promote entrepreneurship in their respective areas. It's important to understand who entrepreneurs are and what they wish to accomplish. There are several ways of defining and understanding the entrepreneur. The American Heritage Dictionary defines an entrepreneur as a person who organizes, operates, and assumes risk for a business venture. They design, produce, and generate value through creation and expansion of economic activity by identifying new products, processes, and market. They have specific ideas about why their business fills a need in a region. Entrepreneurs are often creative forces who have the capacity to see change as opportunity, and as such, they adapt well to new environments and challenges they may face. According to the Kauffman Foundation, "economic gardening is a model that embraces the fundamental idea that entrepreneurs drive economies. It seeks to create jobs by supporting existing companies in a community." It requires long-term investment and reliance on multiple small operations, but the payoff includes stability and diversification among locally-held interests. The following ideas were derived in part from economic gardening principles. These awards are a tribute to the men and women who have contributed to the progress of humanity through their dedication to science. Serving as a source of inspiration, the awards help to raise the profile of talented individuals in addition to the profession as a whole.
