

Award Announcemnt of 15th Global Summit on Oncology and Cancer

Stefan Glueck

Vice President, Celgene Corporation, E-mail: sgluck@celgene.com

Best Keynote Address of the Event

The best keynote speaker always adds something special to an event. The phrase keynote speaker tends you should be able to sound the 'key note'. This refers to deliver a speech that engages all the attendees of the conference. The nominees and the awardees for this award should have a broad experience and can engage all level of audience which includes highly educated researchers and scholars to research fellows and students. The best keynote speaker of Oncology 2020 Congress is for the person who expressed his unique ideas and views in a unique way. The highly eminent personality who enlightened all the attendees of our Conference by his thought provoking lecture and did unique research in the field of Oncology and Cancer will be awarded as Best Keynote Speaker of Oncology 2020.

Best Speaker Award

This award is exceptionally to identify and acknowledge the upcoming speakers who have recently filled the vacancy of eminent personalities in the field of Oncology and Cancer. The best speaker award is for the one who grasped the attention of the attendees with his unique and innovative thoughts in Oncology 2020 Conference.

Best Poster Award

The Best Poster is the one which incorporates all the research information in a simplified manner. This award is to recognize the person who had created a pathway to enrich and enlighten the attendees of our Oncology 2020 Conference in the form of poster. This award ensures to put spot light on such presenters and the posters who demonstrated the exemplary and to raise other attendees of our Conference to look into the excellence of such posters.

Best Video Presentation Award

The best video presentation award is announced with the intention of acknowledging one's valuable contribution and to motivate for more active involvement in the field of Oncology. The best video presentation is the one which can enlighten and initiate the attendees of our Oncology 2020 Conference and should set a path in advancing for a fruitful tomorrow.

Best Young Research Forum (Yrf) Award

The best YRF award is to identify the notable work done by the student participants in our Oncology 2020 Conference. The award is announced revising the excellence and contribution done towards the conference and to the global scientific community. In addition, considering the outstanding, inspiring, effective and professional presentation which engaged all the attendees of our Conference. Also this is especially for the young or budding researcher who has achieved a greater milestone in the field of Oncology and Cancer.

Best Video Presentation Award

The The best video presentation award is announced with the intention of acknowledging one's valuable contribution and to motivate for more active involvement in the field of Oncology. The best video presentation is the one which can enlighten and initiate the attendees of our Oncology 2020 Conference and should set a path in advancing for a fruitful tomorrow.

Best Video Presentation Award

The best YRF award is to identify the notable work done by the student participants in our Oncology 2020 Conference. The award is announced revising the excellence and contribution done towards the conference and to the global scientific community. In addition, considering the outstanding, inspiring, effective and professional presentation which engaged all the attendees of our Conference. Also this is especially for the young or budding researcher who has achieved a greater milestone in the field of Oncology and Cancer.

Best Exhibitor Award

The Best Exhibitor Award is being given to recognize the companies and industries that provide forefront technologies and solutions that enable the other pharmaceutical and drug industries to transform expository ideas to real life, reliable and cost effective technology in the production of cancer related drugs and devices. Also exhibitor showcasing out breaking technology and new strategies in the field of Oncology and Cancer will be awarded as best exhibitor of Oncology 2020 Conference.